J. B. RIFE TO RETIRE FROM COUNTY BOARD

J. B. Rife, who has served on the Greene County Board of Education since the enactment of the county school law, will complete his service of twenty-five years at the end of this term, and will not seek re-election. Mr. Rife is now 76 years old and has not been able to attend many meetings due to ill health.

"I think I have served my time," observed the veteran member, whose service record is at least as long as any other in Ohio because county school boards were not established until 1914.

During the last quarter-century Rife said he has experienced some "pretty hot times" in school matters, but has thoroughly enjoyed his service. "It's been a lot of fun but not much pay," he said. Speaking of the board members receive no compensation except $2 for each of 12 regular meetings every year, plus mileage allowance. They are unpaid for numerous special meetings. And until his health began to fail, he missed "very few" meetings.

Re-elected every time one of his terms expired, Mr. Rife's closest call was in November four years ago when he won a new term by a slender margin of four votes over H. E. Bales, Paintersville, another incumbent. Ballots cast in an overlapping Clark County precinct provided his winning margin.

Rife, a prominent farmer and stock raiser of Miami township, previously served a number of years on the Miami township school board, but was never a candidate for nor the holder of any other public office.

Driver's Licenses Due Sept. 5th

The next license the automobile owner, which includes all who drive, is due Sept. 5th.

There is one new feature before you can get your license this year. You must submit the 1939 license so the agent can transfer to the 1940 license just what convictions you have had for violation of the driver's law during the present year.

Registers cannot solicit business by publicity or other wise and to do so will be sufficient grounds for dismissal. Truck drivers and chauffeurs on applying for a license must have new photographs that have been taken within the past 30 days and each must be two and one-half by two and one-half inches in size. Old photographs will not be acceptable.

ANOTHER OBJECTING LETTER

As to changing date of Thanksgiving we have been handed a clipping of a letter to the New York Times that certainly is timely and lends support to those who oppose the breaking down of a time tried tradition to commercialize a day we know as Thanksgiving. As to commercializing our holidays none is more abused than Memorial Day, May 30th. It might just as well be combined with July 4th and celebrate the valor of our soldier dead with fire crackers. The Times writer says:

"I have with much interest and discomfort read the news item of the day on Thanksgiving. This is a subject upon which I have spent at least two and a half years in research, and I believe I know the source, philosophy, history and development of Thanksgiving."

"Thanksgiving is not a national legal holiday, nor was it ever. If anything it is a holy day, which was started by the Pilgrims in 1620 and 1621, followed by the New England States, then the Continental Congress from 1777 and finally by President, all issuing proclamations for designating a certain date for the observance."

"The Pilgrims brought the idea from Holland. Today we have the institution of Thanksgiving, founded upon tradition, confirmed by custom and practice, and to the American people it has become too sacred to be changed."

"Thanksgiving was not thought of with any regard for business. It was conceived in thoughts associated with God and for His blessings bestowed upon man. Business never had anything to do with it, except in an attempt to commercialize it. The business reasons given for the proposed change are ridiculous. In fact, there are a great many business reasons why the date should not be changed."

CORN HUSKING SET FOR OCT. DELAWARE CO.

Indications point to an excellent field of corn for use in the state corn husking contest, which will be held in Delaware County this fall.

The 76-acre field of corn in which the state corn husking contest and mechanical corn picking demonstrations will be held Oct. 26-27 is one of the finest fields of corn in Delaware County.

This state event will be held at the Arthur Main farm two and one-half mile northwest of Delaware on U. S. Route 42.

The field consists entirely of hybrid corn, and the growth of the corn throughout the field is nearly even.

A check-up at the field last week showed that there is an average of three well-filled, large-size ears to the hill.

Ed Moore, operator of the Main farm, is expecting the corn to yield from 90 to 100 bushels an acre.

The field is a half mile long and 55 rods wide, and runs lengthwise North and South.

Seeds of the corn hybrids was given for all of the corn acreage at the farm by the Ohio Seed Improvement Association and the Ohio Corn Hybrid Producers. Fertilizer was contributed by the Smith Agricultural Chemical Co., Columbus.

In addition to a local committee, the Ohio Farmer and the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service are sponsors of the Ohio Corn Field Days and Corn Husking Contests.

The annual report submitted by the secretary showed that for the year ending Aug. 1, the company paid out $19,191.43 on fire, wind and lightning losses. This sum was approximately the same as losses sustained for the year prior and necessitated an assessment of only $3.50 per thousand dollars of insurance.

The losses sustained for the year were $12,853 paid on fire claims, $2,600 for lightning and $3,667 for windstorm. The association carries $10,500,000 in fire, lightning and windstorm insurance on 2,570 farms in Clark, Champaign, Greene, Madison, Miami and Montgomery Counties.

Greene County Fair Shows Big Profit; To Retire Debt

Vo-Ag. News

The Travelaire boys arrived in Cedarville at 7:15 p. m., Sunday. They traveled 2,300 miles through ten states and Canada.

Most boys felt the World's Fair was the climax of interest on the tour. Some of the other things of high interest were swimming in the ocean, going aboard a submarine, hiking to the top of Mt. Washington and seeing Niagara Falls. Exceeding all there was the flight from Newark airport over New York harbor and lower Manhattan. Eleven of the boys had never been off the ground in a plane before. No sickness or accidents of any kind were experienced on this trip.

Signors To Bigelow Old Age Pension Referendum Petitions

Three petitions were circulated here for signors to the Bigelow single tax or real estate tax for old age pensions. Many of the names were so poorly written that it was hard to make out the correct spelling. Many were illegal in form. Others were written with wrong kind of pencil and numerous names were not known in the community and some from other precincts.

Several weeks ago the Herald announced that the names of all referendum petitions would be published that the public might know who supported such movements. ## MANY ILLEGAL SIGNATURES ON PETITIONS

The Herald made a canvass of signors of the Bigelow Old Age Pension petitions that have been before the Greene County Board of Elections for canvass, Tuesday.

The 31 petitions in the county contained a total of 2,101 names and petitions were signed by residents of Xenia, Cedarville, Osborn, Yellow Springs and Clifton. Jamestown, Bowersville, Spring Valley, Bellbrook, Ross, Beavercreek, and Silvercreek by petitions, not represented.

Harry Arnold circulated eight petitions in Xenia; Julia Bonds in Clifton; Joe T. Galeski, Osborn; Ralph Howell, Yellow Springs; Wm. Clemans, C. C. Weimer and E. E. Neal, Cedarville. Others in Xenia that circulated petitions were: Levenia Taylor, T. A. Randall, James H. Lee, Charles Thomas Carroll, Millard Dixon Flack, Margaret E. McIntosh, H. E. Glow.

The Bigelow petitions are for a referendum to place a tax on all land valued at $20,000, an acre. This is misleading to many who think there is no such land in the country other than the larger cities. The Herald will at a later date present some figures to show that such land values exist in Cedarville village and what constitutes land valuations. No doubt many have signed the petitions under misrepresentation or misunderstanding as the circulators in the main as we get it from a number interviewed that "it was a petition to increase old age pensions." This is not correct because the pensions proposed by these petitions are entirely different from what exists at the present time. If attorneys construe the Bigelow proposal correctly the present petitions will be automatically wiped out by an affirmative vote.

Xenia city would be hardest hit by the Bigelow real estate tax for aged pensions. An acre of ground in the better residential sections would run forty to sixty thousand dollars an acre. Down town property would run over a hundred thousand dollars an acre. Jamestown has property that would be hit by this new tax just as can be found in sections of Yellow Springs and Osborn. It must be kept in mind that the unit for taxation is one acre that has a taxable value of $20,000.

Farm land in some places near railroads or factories would be hit hard and in a few instances with improved homes and barns with other buildings would run the total up to $20,000 an acre, and the rest of the farm be exempt from the Bigelow tax. This is a change in the constitution, not legislation, but legislation can be passed to increase the tax valuation ten, twenty-five or even fifty percent over present tax valuations. The Bigelow amendment for a new land tax will be in addition to the present 10 mill limitation if approved at the November election.

County To Improve 20 Miles of Roads

The county commissioners announce the improvement of 19.6 miles of roads at a cost of $48,532.48. Part of the work is under way.

The highway rebuilding program, for which trustee boards of four townships have agreed to share in the cost to the extent of at least $7,505, Jamestown-Port William Rd.—3.7 miles, including .64 miles in Silvercreek Twp., and 3.05 miles in Jefferson Twp. Estimated cost $13,069.

Hite Rd.—3.6 miles, including 1.8 in Silvercreek Twp., and 1.8 in Jefferson Twp. Estimated cost $6,400.

Kelso Rd.—2 miles in Jefferson Twp. Estimated cost $8,000.

Jasper Station Rd.—1.4 miles in New Jasper Twp. Estimated cost $4,300.

Hoop Rd.—2.9 miles, including 1.4 in New Jasper Twp., and 1.5 in Xenia Twp. Estimated cost $4,990.

Jamestown-Paintersville Rd.—2.3 miles, including .5 of a mile in New Jasper Twp., and 1.8 in Caesar Creek Twp. Estimated cost $4,900.

Federal Pike—2.56 miles in Cedarville Twp. at cost estimated of $6,787.19 and .70 miles in Xenia Twp., at cost of $2,181.46.

County board records show Silvercreek trustees will join in improvements to two roads by contributing $1,250, the Jefferson trustees will furnish $2,750 for three roads. New Jasper trustees will pay $1,850 for three roads and the Caesar Creek trustees will provide $1,400 to assist in financing two projects.

WHY MEN FISH

Why do men like to sit in a boat all day under a blistering sun dangling a line in the water in the hope that a fish will take their bait?

Why are they willing to get up before dawn and fish into the mosquito-infested night?

A psychology professor, who is also an ardent fisherman, answers these questions, which have puzzled nonfishers for a long time.

The attraction in fishing is its gamble, according to the professor.

A real fisherman would soon tire of the sport, we are told by the same authority, if fish bit every time he dropped a hook into the water.

A combination of hope, expectation and doubt keeps up his interest.

The psychologists call this "thwarting, with occasional success."

AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY

The people of the United States do not want any part of any war. That can be asserted as a definite, unchallengeable statement of fact.

The people of the United States, as a whole, consider the quarrels of European nations with each other as no concern of ours. That is also a positive statement of fact.

The people of the United States are bitterly resentful of Japan's armed invasion of China, but are far from being convinced that it is our duty, therefore, to go to war with Japan.

The people of the United States are, on the whole, sympathetic with the European democracies, especially Britain and France, in any struggle to maintain the human liberties which we, also, cherish, in case those liberties are threatened from without. But the people of the United States are far from being convinced that those liberties, so far, are threatened; nor do most Americans believe that a threat to them is a threat to our own liberties.

The people of the United States are in pretty general agreement that the conquest and colonization of any part of the American continent by any European or other foreign power might constitute a threat to our liberties, or at least require action on our part to defend the invaded country, not in their particular interest but in our own. That is the essence of the Monroe doctrine.

The people of the United States believe that our surest protection against being drawn into any war is to build up our Navy, Air Force and Army to a point of efficiency where no other nation would dare to make war against us.

The people of the United States believe that the less we meddle with foreign affairs and the more attention we pay to our own, the better off we will be, war or no war.

The foregoing statements we believe to be as accurate a picture of the average American citizen's views on war as can be put on paper. In a government of, by and for the people, they ought to be the guiding principle of the nation's foreign policy.

—Leesburg Citizen.

DON'T BLAME THE BANKS

The charge that there is inadequate bank credit at a time when the banks are overflooded with capital, has puzzled many a thoughtful citizen. And the easiest thing to do is to call the bankers a crew of hard-hearted shysters and accuse them of turning deaf ears to worthy applications for loans.

The truth of the matter, as Senator Barbour of New Jersey, recently pointed out, is that federal financing and spending are the main factors at fault. The banks have been virtually forced to invest their surplus accounts in government securities. They are, in the Senator's word, "helpless."

There are, Senator Barbour continued, two possible solutions. One is for the government to go whole-hog into the banking business, and thus subject the people's money to the changing whim of politics. The other is for the government to "quit" borrowing and live within its means. The machinery of credit is well organized, well protected, except for federal interference with its proper functions, and able to serve the country adequately if released from the grip of its addiction to public lending, for which the government itself is responsible.

No bank wants to refuse a loan—after all, loans keep banking a live, and build the community prosperity that is an essential corollary of bank prosperity. But a government policy which virtually forces billions of capital into government securities is hardly a stimulant to lending for private, productive purposes. Furthermore, the banker's first responsibility is to his depositors—his own tried judgment, to say nothing of the law, compels him to insist on the highest conceivable standards of safety when he makes a loan. As the Chairman of the Board of the National City Bank, has said, "The idea that the way to prosperity is to make it easy for people to get into debt, does not stand the test of experience."

You blame the bankers all you like—but the fact remains that a large volume of private loans can be made only under a government policy that is encouraging to individual activity, instead of a policy that puts the government more and more into competition with its private citizens.

One of the historic buildings in Cincinnati, Grand Opera House, the last word in splendor and Doric architecture is being razed to make way for a two-story picture show house. There are many even in Greene county that will remember the opening of this house having been rebuilt following a fire. The Grand opened with that colossal spectacle "Ben Hur" and thousands of people for miles around the city had the pleasure of seeing the Biblical drama. As compared with modern day architecture the Grand as it stands today will outclass what will take its place just like the post office building in that city outclassed the barn-like new government building that cost several million. It appears like a stone barn with a lot of windows and on the interior we find marble walls and cut-up offices that might be termed stalls.

Many of the greatest artists of the stage appeared behind the footlights of the Grand in its day. There were Dockstader, Lillian Russell, Richard Carle, George Arliss, John Drew and a score or more that could be named. Then mentioning the destruction of the Grand, it is almost tragic when we think of Julia Marlow and E. H. Southern in that delightful "When Knighthood was in Flower." In those days you saw actors in the flesh. You heard their natural voices with the immortals that cannot be duplicated on a phonograph behind a white sheet as we term the talking picture. One was nature at its best, the latest is artificial in every sense of the word.

Over in Clark county the Democrats endeavored to stage a comeback when a highway employee brought action for a hearing before the State Civil Service Commission. One case was called but the politician withdrew his action, when he could not get witnesses to testify his way. The Republican administration had the proof. Intoxication while on duty. Using highway machines to distribute political advertising and hauling voters. Using highway men and material to improve driveways and lanes on private property for Democratic leaders in the city and county. Since that hearing you hear no more complaints from those who were kicked off their jobs.

The newspaper graveyard received what was left of the Portland, Ore., News-Telegram, Monday, another active supporter of the New Deal in that state. It was a Scripps League paper. Two Ohio papers belonging to that organization folded up the past year, one in Toledo and the other Akron.

News dispatches last week carried stories of the TVA handing a check for 78 million dollars to the president of the Tennessee Light & Power Co., for its plant and lines in that state. It is about three times what was offered for the plant eighteen months ago. Then the government offered enough to pay preferred stockholders but nothing for the common stockholders. Things have happened in Congress the past year. Southern congressmen and senators are not wearing the New Deal yoke as in the early days of the Roosevelt economic revolution. To help keep the south sweet the New Dealers bid higher. In fact it was the highest price ever paid for a utility plant in the history of the country. The company owning the plant will distribute the money to stockholders. The company had been paying to local subdivisions and the state taxes each year amounting to $2,800,000. This sum will be lost to counties and schools in that state as the New Deal does not pay taxes on government property. Did the state win or lose? Tennessee has a state law that forbids municipalities having power plants. Everybody must take TVA whether they like it or not.

Springfield had a first class robbery in one of the leading downtown stores sometime early Sunday morning. Robbers must have known the lay of all property. No windows or doors were tampered with due to burglar alarms. A hole was cut in a rear brick wall to the third floor. Another was cut through another wall to the second floor and an open stairway gave access to the first floor. Clothing of the leading brands and furnishings amounting to $6,000 was taken. The loot was hauled away in a small truck according to wheel tracks in an alley. The night watchman on the square as well as police must have been taking advantage of the cool night to catch up on their sleep.

Most farmers in this section have made up their mind that the New Deal is going to give them a real taste of five cent hogs during the next three or four months. Importation of Polish meat continues each week and it under sells American pork in price in all Eastern markets. Threats of the CIO strike against packers adds to market troubles and with ten million unemployed the retail outlet for pork is very limited. To add more trouble Germany has turned her nose and five ingers up to the New Dealers in Washington and refuses to import American lard. For fifty years Germany has given the American farmer his greatest market for lard. Lard for the northern farmer and cotton for the south, has been turned into millstones by the New Deal and the necks of these producers must carry the load.

Uncle Sam is the largest real estate holder in the U. S. Besides he holds millions of bales of cotton in storage two and three years old; millions of bushels of corn and wheat. He has been forced through New Deal operations to take over several thousand homes by foreclosure. He has thousands of acres of farm land taken by the same process. He has thousands of Democratic politicians collecting rents and managing these properties in addition to a corps of lawyers in the more populous counties to handle the legal transactions. The average loss on each home foreclosure is $700. Legal costs and repairs usually put the loss at $1,000 on an average. Thirty per cent of the homes are not rented or are not fit to be even repaired. So far 55,000 sales have been ordered and it has cost the nation a loss of 56 million dollars. No bank, building and loan or corporation could stay on its feet if it did business on the plan of the HOLC.

The government has a new plan for aiding recovery. The appointment of several thousand investigators in the country to check the names of all persons dropped by WPA and see what these men are doing now. The Washington report says there are so many agencies handing out federal money and indications that a large part of it is being duplicated and that many are on the receiving end twice each month.

If the New Dealers want to investigate there are many places where pay dirt can be found and in Greene county. WPA, old-age pensions, children's aid, blind pensions, food relief, job insurance checks and county aid are so mixed where political aid could be used the whole thing is a mere omelet. A check was made in West Virginia and the result was so astounding even the New Dealers would not give out the report, but the fellows that were living by government aid better than some taxpayers, have been divorced from their graves.

Hitler drove the biggest bargain of his career this week when he won over Joseph Stalin, and Russia, in a peace pact. This treaty leaves England out on the end of a limb for both expected Russia to come their way. Poland is now helpless and in time may fall to Germany. It is another victory for Hitler without war and Tuesday reports indicate that both the English and French cabinets will fall. It may appear to the average citizen that the New Deal billions for war, abroad may yet be useless.

John L. Lewis and his CIO are not the only labor organizations having trouble. William Green and his AFL have their grief. This week the latter organization suspended the International Typographical Union because it would not pay dues of one cent per month per month into the war chest to fight the CIO. The printers have about 80,000 paying members and according to Green owe the AFL about $20,000. The printer's refusal to be bound by the order. Charles Howard, once an honored member and for years president of the Typo organization tried to lead his members into the CIO but lost out in his effort. He was defeated for president and died of a broken heart. The Typo union is probably the freest of union racketeers of any such organization in the country.

Journalism Students Conduct Research On Smoking

The average student who smokes adds from $35 to $50 a year to his college expenses, according to a survey conducted by an impartial group of journalism students at Woodbury College in Los Angeles. Approximately twenty-five aspiring young journalists compiled extensive data in interviews with representative students in a number of southern California colleges.

The students were able to draw some interesting conclusions from what they discovered, says a report in an exchange. According to their finds, the average smoker:

1. Spends more than twice as much for tobacco as for textbooks.
2. Reluctantly admits that smoking is an "expensive nuisance" and that he intends to give it up "somedays."
3. Spends the equivalent of one month's room rent and board each year for tobacco.

Contrary to general opinion, the survey disclosed that a very large percentage of college students do not smoke. Some of the reasons given by students for taking up smoking were the following:

- "... because I thought it was smart."
- "... because I wanted to keep up with the others."
- "... because I thought it would soothe my nerves."

Students of the Journalism College at Woodbury made hundreds of interviews during the survey as a means of getting practical experience of this kind of work for their future work in the newspaper field.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Elliott and son, of Ocoee, Florida, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Cherry last Saturday.

Jack Nieman will take over his duties as service man at the Paul Edwards garage, Monday morning.

A charming afternoon wedding took place Thursday at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Chenoweth, South Charleston, when their daughter, Wilma, became the bride of Mr. Robert L. Richards, Cedarville.

The ceremony took place before an improvised altar of summer flowers, the couple being attended by Mr. John Richards, brother of the groom, and Miss Christine Jones. The single ring ceremony was read by Dr. David Markle, pastor of the Cedarville Methodist Church. The bride was presented by her father.

Previously to the ceremony there was a musical program, Mrs. Mary Markle singing two numbers, "Because" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told", accompanied at the piano by Miss Mildred Trumbo, who also rendered, "At Dawning" at the piano. The bride was charming in a daytime lace gown with black accessories, wearing a shoulder corsage of Tallman roses. Miss Jones was attractive in crusader blue with black accessories, with a shoulder corsage of E. G. Hill roses. The bride's going away costume was a blue sports dress with black accessories.

Following the ceremony an ice course was served the guests, composed mostly of members of the immediate families. The bride and groom are on a short honeymoon motor tour and will be at home at 198 N. Powell st., Columbus, where Mr. Richards will teach in West High School.

The bride is a graduate of the South Charleston High School and the groom of the local high school, while both are graduates of Cedarville College. The bride also has taught in the local schools the past two years. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Richards of this place.

UZZIAH: A KING WHO FORGOT GOD

LESSON TEXT—II Chronicles 26:3-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.—Luke 14:14.

"Pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall" (Prov. 16:18).
A man's life may begin with every promise of greatness and he may prosper in everything for years as he honors God, and then by presumptuous disobedience he may bring it all to sudden destruction. Living the closing years of his life in disgrace and going down to his grave in sorrow. That fact is written so large on the pages of history that one marvels that "praying men thought foolish" need to "fear therein" (Isa. 38:8). Pride makes a man blind to his own weakness and so presumptuous that he walks right into trouble. The story of Uzziah points a moral both obvious and needed by all of us.

I. Prosperity (vv. 3-5).
"As long as he sought the Lord, God made him prosper" (v. 5). With a heart right toward God, the background of a rearing by God-fearing parents (how much that means!) and the counsel of a man who was an "expert" in his understanding of the ways and the will of God, Uzziah prospered greatly. Chapters 25 to 27 of II Chronicles reveal him as a man of affairs, a successful warrior, a capable agriculturist, an able government administrator, and a king whose fame was known far and wide for one who took over the government of a nation at the tender age of 16, following the tragic death of his father. Uzziah made a remarkable and commendable record.

II. Presumption (v. 16).
"When he was strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction" (v. 16). What sad words! Prosperity ruined a man who had made a name for himself in times of adversity. In presumptuous pride he attempted to take the place of the priest ordained of God, in effect declaring that the State was over the Church, as we would put it in our day.

"There is no greater danger attaching to the life of Christian service than the danger of presumptuous pride. I mean the pride which manifests itself in an independence of the ordinary means of grace, of prayer, and of the Word of God. I am convinced that that is the cause of much of the failure in many lives here. It is a pride which says: 'I can dispense with the Word of God,' which persists in living on a minimum of prayer and communion with God, and in yet going about the work of God as of old; a pride which, like Uzziah's, seeks carnal prominence in spiritual things. For that was his sin. He sought a carnal prominence in service which God had ordained was to be of an entirely spiritual order" (J. Stuart Holden).

III. Punishment (vv. 17-21).
"The king was a leper . . . and was cut off from the house of the Lord" (v. 21). The priests of God had holy boldness in rebuking the king, a quality which one could hope would never be missing in the testimony of God's servants. The king, however, resented their words of counsel, and punishment from God, both swift and terrible, came upon him.

If the judgment upon Uzziah seems too drastic, let us remember that the king was presuming to set aside an order established by God. It was a question of whether God was to rule or the king. We should also bear in mind that what looks like a single outward bit of presumption was really the expression of a heart that had long since gone far from God. When men in high position either in the State or in the Church fall into sin, it is not very often the result of a yielding to a sudden temptation, but rather the inevitable showing forth of what has long been true in the inner life. The leprosy of Uzziah's heart now showed forth in his face, and he had to be shut off from his people and from his royal position.

God Sees the Heart.
Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight; but all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do.—Hebrews 4:13.

Spiritual Contradictions.
He that was called in the Lord being a servant, is the Lord's freeman; likewise he that is called, being free, is Christ's servant.—I Cor. 7:22.

Patience That Endureth.
It is in length of patience, endurance and forbearance that so much of what is good in mankind and womankind is shown.—Arthur Helps.

Power of God.
Religion wields the greatest power in the universe, the power of God.

Graded hogs topped at 6.30 for weights 185 to 224 lbs., 6.25 for 230 lb. averages, and 6.00 down for heavier weights. Lighter sorts sold at 6.25 for 180 to 199 lbs., and 6.10 for 170 lb. averages, down to 5.55 for those scaling an average of 148 lbs. Feeding pigs were higher than last Monday, with top of 6.85. Breeding lambs rated 5.50 down per head, and butcher ewes from 1.25 to 3.70 per hundred weight.

A comparison by the Experiment Station of rates of gain made by steers getting a full feed of silage with those getting corn only as grain indicated that more pounds of beef can be produced per acre of corn harvested for silage than with the same amount of corn harvested for grain.
